

More insightful research to power your investment decisions

S&P Global Market Intelligence is pleased to announce the addition of D.A. Davidson & Co.'s equity research reports to our Aftermarket Research standard collection. We are excited to be the only investment research provider to offer this insightful content on a delayed basis.

D.A. Davidson joins over 1,700 contributors to our Aftermarket Research offering, expanding our coverage of the Basic Materials, Consumer, Financial Services, Infrastructure, and Technology sectors. All S&P Capital IQ platform clients with an Aftermarket Research license now have access to more than 28,000 D.A. Davidson reports dating back to 2006.

D.A. Davidson covers nearly 300 companies across 19 industries and has been recognized for its work by Institutional Investor, Wall Street Journal, Financial Times, and Forbes. In the last nine months, D.A. Davidson has focused on expanding its coverage of e-commerce, financial technology and consumer products companies.

S&P Global Market Intelligence was named 2017 Best Research Provider at the Inside Market Data Awards and Inside Reference Data awards. More than 20 new research contributors have been added to our Aftermarket Research collection this year including Ipopema Securities and Investec Bank, augmenting our already strong coverage of public companies, industries, and market trends.
