² Benchmark assets are assets in actively managed funds whose performance are compared to or measured against the respective S&P DJI indices.

³ Exchange-traded products (ETPs) include exchange-traded funds (ETFs), exchange-traded notes (ETNs) and exchange-traded commodities (ETCs).

⁴ Non-ETP assets include mutual funds, institutional funds, separately managed accounts and insurance products.

S&P Dow Jones Indices does not guarantee the accuracy of these data. To create a comprehensive view of assets, S&P DJI uses a wide range of data, including third party data and S&P DJI client-reported data collected via an annual survey. Not all companies respond or choose to be included in such survey. There will be variability year to year due to various factors that impact the results, including, for example, the timing and robustness of market participants' reporting, market performance and S&P DJI's ongoing data cleansing and methodology enhancements to improve the quality and accuracy of the survey results.
