Credit Suisse Yield Enhanced Global Corporate Index

Index Universe: Based on the Credit Suisse Latin American Corporate Index (CS-LACI), Credit Suisse Asian Corporate Index (ACI), Credit Suisse Liquid Eastern European Index (CS-EEI), Credit Suisse Middle East and Africa Corporate Index (MACI), and Credit Suisse US High Yield Index (CSHY).

Country Eligibility: A country's bonds must settle through EuroClear in USD to be eligible for the index, with the exception of Malaysia, Taiwan and the Philippines, which are excluded from the index.

Countries will be classified as developed or emerging according to Dow Jones¹ country classification standards, which can be found at:

http://www.djindexes.com/mdsidx/downloads/brochure_info/Dow_Jones_Indexes_Country_Classification_System.pdf

If a country is not classified in the list according to Dow Jones, the index committee will then determine where the country should fall. Specific examples include Luxembourg, which is considered a developed market, and Panama, which is considered an emerging market for fixed income index purposes. All other countries not specifically defined as developed or emerging market should be excluded.

The country eligibility is determined based on the availability of free transfers, which allows for efficient access and trading in the local market.

Currency: USD

Minimum Balance: 500mm USD

Maturity: 1.5 years remaining maturity at the time of quarterly rebalancing; maximum maturity of 15 years at the time of quarterly rebalancing

Rating Criteria: Must have a rating of B+ or higher

Coupon Reinvestment: USD 1M LIBOR rate

Trading and Settlement: Bonds trade on a clean price basis and settle from one to three business days after the trade date, depending on the local convention.

Transaction Cost: This index does not take transaction costs (bid-offer spreads) into account.

Index Pricing: The index uses a combination of trader and vendor prices. The index uses exclusively bid-side pricing.

Securities: Defaulted, 144A and Reg S issues are excluded; all bonds have a minimum denomination less than or equal to USD2000. If a bond defaults after rebalancing or reconstitution, it remains in the index until the next rebalancing or reconstitution, whichever is earlier. As of default date, yield and forward-looking metrics will no longer be calculated.

Index Calendar: Each underlying index has its own holiday calendar. This index will have a combined holiday calendar which only considers holidays to be those days when all underlying indexes are jointly on holiday.

Rebalancing: Quarterly; the index is rebalanced quarterly at the end of every March, June, September and December by selecting the top 30 highest-yielding bonds from the available universe. The universe consists of the bonds that have the latest interest accrued date for each issuer and that satisfy the eligibility criteria of the index. At the time of rebalancing, individual issues are equally weighted.

Reconstitution: Monthly; the index is replenished with top yielding bonds of issuers whose bonds are not present since last rebalancing from the available universe in place of bonds that have dropped out of the index between the quarterly rebalancing due to a failure to meet underlying portfolio eligibility criteria. Eligibility in underlying portfolios is primarily based on a minimum amount outstanding, rating, and maturity rules and is in no way based on issue yield.

Information, opinions and estimates contained in this report reflect a judgement at its original date of publication by CS and are subject to change without notice. The price, value of and income from any of the securities or financial instruments mentioned in this report can fall as well as rise. The value of securities and financial instruments is subject to exchange rate fluctuation that may have a positive or adverse effect on the price or income of such securities or financial instruments. Investors in securities such as ADRs, the values of which are influenced by currency volatility, effectively assume this risk.

Structured securities are complex instruments, typically involve a high degree of risk and are intended for sale only to sophisticated investors who are capable of understanding and assuming the risks involved. The market value of any structured security may be affected by changes in economic, financial and political factors (including, but not limited to, spot and forward interest and exchange rates), time to maturity, market conditions and volatility, and the credit quality of any issuer or reference issuer. Any investor interested in purchasing a structured product should conduct their own investigation and analysis of the product and consult with their own professional advisers as to the risks involved in making such a purchase.

Some investments discussed in this report may have a high level of volatility. High volatility investments may experience sudden and large falls in their value causing losses when that investment is realised. Those losses may equal your original investment. Indeed, in the case of some investments the potential losses may exceed the amount of initial investment and, in such circumstances, you may be required to pay more money to support those losses. Income yields from investments may fluctuate and, in consequence, initial capital paid to make the investment may be used as part of that income yield. Some investments may not be readily realisable and it may be difficult to sell or realise those investments, similarly it may prove difficult for you to obtain reliable information about the value, or risks, to which such an investment is exposed.
